

Physical Intervention Policy

Statement of intent

Prism believes that it is important to establish a safe, secure and stable environment to enable pupils to grow, develop and learn. To achieve this, the school recognises that, in a minority of circumstances, physical intervention, including safe touch and the use of reasonable force, is necessary as a last resort if verbal de-escalation hasn't been successful and the young person or someone is in imminent danger.

The school understands that behaviour is often a means of communication which may signal that a pupil is in need of support but does not know how to express this; therefore, the school takes a proactive approach to anticipating, managing and minimising potential triggers of distressed behaviour that may cause harm.

This policy acknowledges that in a small amount of situations in which staff members will be required to use physical intervention, and in some cases reasonable force, in order to handle pupils' emotions or aggressive behaviour when other measures have failed to do so.

The aim of this policy is to ensure that physical intervention is used in a correct and safe manner, which is in accordance with the relevant legislation and national guidance and

'to manage distressed behaviour and conflicts safely and respectfully'

Definitions

For the purposes of this policy:

'physical intervention' is used to refer to any situation in which physical contact with a pupil is necessary – this includes reasonable force, e.g. to defuse a situation in which a pupil is at risk of harming themselves or others, and safe touch, e.g. comforting a pupil in emotional distress.

'positive handling' is defined as the overall, graduated approach of responding to pupils' behaviour and emotions with the intention of protecting pupils and staff, and limiting damage to others and property. Positive handling adapts the least intrusive intervention techniques in response to situations, before using gentle physical intervention and reasonable force as a last resort.

'reasonable force' is considered to refer to a broad range of actions that may be used to control or restrain a pupil to prevent that pupil from hurting themselves or others, from damaging property, or from causing disorder. Reasonable force covers force that is necessary and proportionate to the circumstances.

'safe touch' is defined as physical contact which, if avoided, would be inhumane, unkind or cause distress to a pupil, e.g., where a pupil is significantly distressed and in need of physical comfort.

Positive handling

The principle of positive handling means that the school expects staff to assess whether the incident requiring a response can be resolved without physical intervention. All staff have a legal power to use reasonable force if deemed necessary and proportionate.

Where possible, the school implements an approach of prevention, where staff will be trained in recognising warning signs of severe pain or distress and/or aggressive behaviour, communicating empathetically with pupils displaying such signs to aid them in regulating their emotions, and altering their environment to minimise distressing stimuli.

Teaching staff will be aware of the behavioural patterns, medical conditions and levels of need of pupils in their class, and will ensure that incidents of disruptive or aggressive behaviour in the classroom are handled in line with individual pupils' needs.

Staff will not generally resort to physical contact or reasonable force immediately without first questioning whether there is a need to use physical intervention.

Staff will question whether:

- Verbal de-escalation can be attempted.
- actions can be taken to remove triggers from pupils, e.g. dimming the lights and encouraging quiet where a pupil is having a meltdown in response to sensory overstimulation.
- The pupil can be removed from the situation without physical intervention, e.g. if they will follow a member of teaching staff out of the classroom.

Physical Intervention Policy

- The pupil has a condition or support needs that mean physical intervention would be inherently more dangerous, e.g. asthma which may be made worse by restrictive holds or sensory issues where physical touch would contribute to sensory overload and may provoke aggressive behaviour.
- They have the ability, training and adequate support to physically intervene safely without causing unnecessary harm to the pupil or themselves.
- Where there is no immediate risk of harm to themselves or others, destruction of property or serious disruption, reasonable force will not be used on the pupil. Any reasonable force used in situations that are non-urgent will only be used once all alternative options have been exhausted and where the staff member in charge deems that the situation is escalating.

The school understands that, in some cases, action may be required very quickly, e.g. in the event that a pupil attempts to run out into a busy road. Staff will not be penalised for resorting to the use of physical intervention or reasonable force in such situations where it is justified and perceived necessary to prevent harm to others or property in the circumstances.

Positive handling will be applied with the intention of re-establishing verbal control as soon as possible and, at the same time, allowing the pupil to regain self-control. Reasonable force is not used as a method of behaviour management or discipline – only as a last resort in situations that require de-escalation to prevent harm.

5. Reasonable force

Staff members will use actions that are appropriate and in proportion to the circumstances. Where reasonable force is required, the degree and type of force that is used will depend on the pupil's circumstances, e.g. their age or SEND.

Two members of staff will be present during the use of reasonable force unless a pupil is at risk of imminent danger or harm where not to intervene poses a greater risk to the pupil than the use of reasonable force e.g. the pupils action is life threatening. However, it is expected that de-escalation techniques will be used initially and the member of staff will assess the situation at the time. If a staff member is alone, they usually will not touch the child until someone else arrives to support the situation.

The following list is not exhaustive, but provides examples of situations where the school may decide to use reasonable force where other methods of defusing a situation have been exhausted or are not appropriate:

1. Members of staff need to control pupils risking the safety of themselves or others outside of school premises where the same range of support options are not available, e.g. on school trips.
2. Members of staff must prevent a pupil from leaving an area, e.g. the classroom or school grounds, where doing so would risk their safety or the safety of others.
3. A pupil is attacking a member of staff or another pupil.
4. A pupil is at serious risk of harming themselves and a member of staff must intervene to prevent this.
5. The headteacher or authorised staff are conducting a search for items prohibited under the Education Act 1996, e.g. knives and weapons, alcohol, and illegal drugs.

All members of staff will be permitted to use reasonable force where they believe it to be proportionate and necessary in line with their training, as long as all necessary precautions are taken. The decision to physically intervene during a situation is down to the professional judgement and dynamic risk assessment of the member of staff and always depends on the circumstances.

The power to use reasonable force also applies to any individual whom the headteacher has identified as temporarily in charge, such as volunteers.

In many cases where physical intervention or reasonable force is required, minimal and non-restrictive force will be appropriate, e.g. holding a pupils arm to escort them from a classroom using Team Teach caring 'c's Reasonable force techniques that involve restraint will only be used where the staff member in charge feels it is necessary to prevent serious harm. In general, restraint will only be used for the minimum amount of time necessary to remove the threat of harm. Prolonged restraint will not be used, i.e. restraint beyond that which is necessary to remove the immediate threat a pupil is posing to themselves or others.

Physical Intervention Policy

Where staff determine physical intervention is necessary, they will calmly communicate the reasons for their actions to the pupil and explain why it is necessary in a non-threatening manner. In most cases, staff will communicate this to pupils before making physical contact to minimise distress and/or further aggressive behaviour from the pupil; however, the school recognises that this is not possible in some emergency situations.

Staff will never give the impression that they are acting out of anger or are punishing the pupil. Staff members will always avoid acting in a way that could cause injury; however, the school understands that accidental injury may occur in emergency situations where there is not sufficient time for a considered response, e.g. bruising on a child's wrist where a staff member has grabbed them to prevent them running onto a busy road. Reasonable force techniques which present an unacceptable risk and will not be used under any circumstances. These include:

- Blocking of the airway
- Closing of the chest- positional asphyxiation
- Holding of the fingers

Staff will also be aware that, in some instances, it will cause more distress to a pupil, and may increase the risk of harm to their peers, if they are prevented from leaving an area, e.g. their classroom, using physical intervention. Where it is not dangerous to allow them to leave, the staff member in charge of the situation should use their judgement in allowing a pupil to remove themselves from the area, as environmental factors in the area specifically may be provoking their behaviour.

Following the incidents where reasonable force is used, the pupil involved may be subject to separate disciplinary procedures and sanctions(see Behaviour Policy), in which strategies should be formed to help avoid reoccurrence of such incidents.

Pupils with SEND

The school will have due consideration to the risks posed by the additional vulnerability of pupils with SEND in terms of physical intervention and reasonable force.

The SENDCO will ensure that the stipulations of the Equality Act 2010 are adhered to in relation to reasonable adjustments, non-discrimination and the Public Sector Equality Duty, and will ensure that staff that come into regular contact with pupils with SEND are aware of the ways in which their needs can be met without reasonable force.

The school is aware that pupils with SEND may sometimes experience meltdowns, which can sometimes manifest in behaviour which may be aggressive or seem uncontrollable. Where it is known that a pupil is prone to meltdowns, the senior leadership team and headteacher will draft a risk assessment to determine planned strategies and resources for managing the pupil's meltdowns that are tailored to the pupil's specific needs, to avoid the use of reasonable force. These risk assessments will be conducted in collaboration with the pupil and their parents, where appropriate.

Some pupils with SEND may require physical intervention when they feel overwhelmed or stressed, e.g. a tight hug to provide them with Deep Pressure sensory feedback; however, this will be discussed as part of relevant risk assessments and is regarded as Safe Touch

Staff members will not assume that a technique employed for one pupil with SEND will be applicable to other pupils with SEND.

Staff will also be aware that pupils with SEND may engage in frequent, repetitive self-stimulatory behaviour, known as 'stimming', and that some pupils may engage in self-injurious stimming, e.g. repeatedly hitting or scratching themselves. While this can be alarming, staff will be aware that stimming is often carried out as a means of emotional regulation or self-soothing in response to stressful or overwhelming stimuli. Staff members will aim to prevent self-stimming situations arising but when they do, to remove distressing stimuli from the environment, where possible, or support pupils to engage in less harmful stimming methods, e.g. by providing them with something to play with or demonstrating a less harmful stim, such as hand flapping. Staff will be aware that restraining a pupil in a way that prevents them from stimming entirely can cause extreme distress and lead to further aggressive behaviour. Self-injurious stimming and tactics to support a pupil to engage in safer stims will be included as part of the pupil's risk assessment.

The school will adhere to its Special Educational Needs and Disabilities (SEND) Policy at all times.

Physical Intervention Policy

Post-incident support & Debriefing

Following an incident of reasonable force, all pupils and staff members involved will be given any necessary first aid to treat injuries as soon as possible, and emotional support and relevant forms will be completed. It may be necessary to provide staff and pupils with some quiet post incident time to self-regulate.

Wherever reasonable force is used, staff members and pupils involved in incidents will be given separate opportunities to reflect on what happened with a member of the inclusion team.

It will be explained to the pupil involved the reason that such intervention was used, and reassured that the use of the intervention was not a punishment for their behaviour, but rather a method of defusing the situation and preventing them from harming themselves or others. The pupil will be asked about the reasons for their behaviour, including:

- Why their environment was causing such distress for them, e.g. in an instance of sensory overstimulation leading to a meltdown.
- Whether they feel there was anything that could have been done to meet their needs before the situation escalated.
- Whether, and how, staff actions were helpful or unhelpful.

Staff will be encouraged to reflect on their actions and how they handled the situation, and will be reassured, where appropriate, that they have done nothing wrong and acted in what they perceived to be the best interests of pupils.

Staff will have a debriefing as a team to review Settings, Triggers, Actions, Results (STAR) in order to develop strategies to try to prevent the situation arising again.

Reporting incidents

A detailed written report will be kept of all incidents where reasonable force is used, distinguishing between planned interventions, i.e. those in line with approved strategies for the behaviour of specific pupils, and unplanned or emergency interventions.

Immediately following an incident, the member(s) of staff involved will verbally report the incident to the headteacher and provide a comprehensive written record of the situation as soon as possible, using the use of physical intervention form. The written report of the incident must be thorough, including as much detail as possible as to what had happened before, during and after the incident, the reasons why specific interventions were employed, and any injuries incurred due to the incident.

Records should be retained and analysed by the headteacher, Deputy, and SENDCO where physical intervention was used on a pupil with SEND, on a termly basis to ensure that such interventions are being used appropriately, and to identify patterns of behaviour and responses to that behaviour that may require changes to school practice, e.g., increased staff training or further behavioural or emotional support. Records should also be sent to the Management Committee annually for evaluation.

Staff members who do not record an instance of reasonable force where it has occurred may be disciplined in line with the Disciplinary Policy and Procedures.

The headteacher will make the decision as to whether it is appropriate to inform the pupil's parents of the details of an incident dependent on previously agreed discussions about the use of reasonable force. If it is appropriate, the following will be adhered to:

1. Where there has been an unplanned physical restraint the parents will be informed by telephone as soon as possible.
2. Parents will be informed in writing the outcomes of any investigation. This will also inform parents of their right to complain about the use of positive handling and reasonable force, in line with the Complaints Procedures Policy
3. The debriefing with staff will enable leaders to decide if an investigation is required. This will always take place if there is a complaint from the parents/carers.
4. A copy of the investigation report will be made available to the member(s) of staff involved in the incident.

If a member of staff witnesses or suspects the use of unreasonable force, where another member of staff is actively involved in physical intervention, they will report this to the headteacher immediately or

Physical Intervention Policy

Where a member of staff witnesses another member of staff involved in a physical interventions using force beyond what is agreed as 'reasonable' they will report this to the headteacher immediately. This will trigger an investigation.

Any allegations against staff will be dealt with as a matter of urgency, and in accordance with the procedures outlined in the school's complaint Policy.

The headteacher will be responsible for organising a thorough investigation to find out the correct details of what occurred; this may include talking to other pupils about the incident, for instance those who witnessed the event.

Complaints

All members of staff will be made fully aware of the consequences and legal retributions that can occur following the incorrect use of physical intervention and force.

All complaints regarding the use of physical intervention or force will be investigated in a thorough and speedy manner. The person making the complaint is responsible for providing evidence for their allegations, e.g., testimony of events or evidence of injury – it is not for the member of staff to prove that their actions were made reasonably. All statements of events must be dated with page numbers added and signed at the bottom of each page so ensure nothing can be added or removed. All information regarding the incident and the complaint will be filed securely and kept in accordance with the complaints policy.

In extreme circumstances, parents may take civil action or pursue a criminal prosecution. In the case where a member of staff has acted within the law, this information from the investigation will provide a defence to any civil or criminal prosecution.

Members of staff accused of using excessive force will not be automatically suspended as a response to the allegations. The following procedure will be adhered to, in line with the complaints policy.

1. Careful consideration will be given to whether the case warrants a person being suspended until the allegation is resolved.
2. Where the decision is made not to suspend the headteacher may decide that the person will continue to work in the school but on restricted duties e.g. not be involved in any situations requiring restraint or not be involved in working with the pupil previously restrained to prevent
3. The Management Committee will always take into account whether a staff member has acted within the law when considering whether or not to take disciplinary action against a staff member involved in an incident.
4. Where a member of staff is suspended, the school will ensure that the staff member has access to a named contact that can provide support and guidance.
5. The school will provide pastoral care to any member of staff who is subject to a formal allegation.
6. Suspension will be with full pay until the outcome to re-instate or dismiss is decided.

Safe touch

The school understands that certain types of physical contact between staff and pupils are inappropriate, e.g. cuddling, lap-sitting and some instances of holding hands, and that safe touch should never be invasive, humiliating or flirtatious. It is recognised that in the local community many cultures hug to give a greeting. We will encourage pupils to shake hands in greeting.

The school understands that the following examples are instances of safe touch which may occur between staff and pupils:

- Comforting an upset or distressed pupil using a side to side comfort hold (see school hug below)
- Using deep pressure as part of an agreed intervention
- Using a hand or foot massage as part of an agreed intervention
- Congratulating or praising a pupil
- Cultural greetings
- Giving first aid to a pupil
- Demonstrating exercises or techniques during PE lessons
- Administering medicine
- Using musical instruments

Designated Safe Touch Areas

Created	Initial of reviewer	Review	Initial
February 2023	KC

Physical Intervention Policy

The school designates that the only appropriate places on a pupil's body to touch them are their shoulders, arms, hands and upper back and possibly feet when giving acupuncture or foot massage as part of an intervention.

School Hug

Staff employing touch for reward or comfort will use the 'school hug', rather than an embrace. The school hug is a sideways hug whereby the member of staff places their hands on the pupil's shoulders. This type of hug prevents the pupil from turning themselves towards the member of staff and thus engaging in a 'front' embrace, which the school deems inappropriate.

School Hand Hold

The school recognises that staff will sometimes need to hold a pupil's hand, e.g. to guide them or prevent them from physical harm. Staff needing to hold a pupil's hand will use the 'school hand hold' in order to prevent any inappropriate exchange between staff and pupils. The school hand hold involves the member of staff holding their arm out and the pupil wrapping their hand around the staff's lower arm. If required, the member of staff can then place their free hand on top of the pupil's for extra security.

Appropriate touch involving pupils with SEND will be in line with their EHC plan.

Safe Touch Boundaries

The school understands that pupils are not always aware of the boundaries between staff and pupils and thus may try to engage in physical contact, such as lap-sitting or inappropriate hand-holding and hugging. Should a pupil try to engage in any inappropriate physical contact, the member of staff will explain to the pupil why it is unacceptable and encourage them to engage in the school-hug or school-hand-hold instead.

If a member of staff attempts to use one of the safe methods of touch and a pupil is unhappy or uncomfortable with this, the member of staff will retract immediately in order to respect the pupil's wishes.

Where it is reported that a staff member has engaged, or is suspected to have engaged, in touch that is not appropriate in line with this policy and the Staff Code of Conduct, this will be handled in line with the Complaints Policy, or, where there have been multiple reports of inappropriate touch or an instance of touch which is severely inappropriate.

Monitoring and review

This policy will be reviewed on an annual basis by the headteacher, Deputy, DSL, SENDCO and Management Committee, who will consider any necessary changes and communicate the findings of the review to all members of staff.
